Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Breiner — for their contribution of the printed cocktail napkins.

Harry King — for his well written Foreward and In Memoriam.

Reverend Peter Kuebler — Judy Tuma's husband for giving the invocation.

Jim Mottola — for designing the cover.

Jon MacLaughlin — who opened his home and joined in the effort to coordinate this reunion.

Humble Oil Co. and DuPont — for their contribution of paper and envelopes.

Mr. Tony — Lynn's postman.

To all those on the committee who's tireless efforts have made this reunion possible.

Foreward

Yeah, well, so it has been ten years — more than ten years — but that doesn't mean it's time for a !?#! reunion.

It's great to see classmates we haven't laid eyes on in years and all that sort of thing, but doesn't this gathering also strike you as being somewhat ominous?

For one thing, it means that in less than two years most of us will have turned 30.

And if that isn't enough to make your blood curdle, we will walk away from tonight's festivities stunned by the knowledge that for the most part we have become responsible adults.

Think back. Few among us walked out of the high school gymnasium on that fine June night in 1959 planning to become responsible adults.

The only plans being made that Monday involved a week at the shore.

College or the start of business careers came next, but few of us really took those seriously then. It can be safely said that not one among us was considering the takeover of an administration building or the relevancy of the business community to its urban surroundings.

And the military? For us, South Vietnam was only part of a vague area on a Problems of Democracy map which we were told was being adequately protected from aggression by SEATO.

Besides, peace was assured by our ring of missiles around the communist world, right?

Anyhow, here we are. Most of us are married, many of us have children. Some of us haven't been back to Haverford Township in years. More and different things have happened to us in the last ten years than will probably happen to us for the rest of our lives.

So we really do have a lot of things to talk about.

But let's not call tonight a reunion. Let's just call it a happening at the Falcon House or something youthful like that.

Maybe in 1979 we can have a reunion.

In Memoriam

No doubt each of us here tonight will be a little disappointed because someone we particularly wanted to see again wasn't able to make it.

All of us are saddened, however, by the knowledge that five of our classmates will not be attending this reunion nor any to be held in the future.

We remember them well.

Haverford High, thy praise we'll ever sing,
 Long shall thy fame in florid accents ring.

Soon, all too soon, our school-day joys are gone
 Then, with the radiance of the breaking dawn
Ascends our love in loyalty to thee
 And mem'ry holds us close eternally.
